Ryan Harter Announces Endorsement From Conservative Tina Ramirez

Chesterfield, VA - Today, Chesterfield human rights leader and Republican Candidate for Virginia's 12th Senate District endorsed Ryan Harter's campaign for Delegate of Virginia's 73rd House District. This major endorsement speaks to the momentum of Harter's campaign and solidifies his standing as the clear frontrunner for the Republican nomination.

"I'm proud to receive this endorsement from my friend, Tina Ramirez," said Harter. "Tina and I are both former educators with a passion for teaching the next generation. After my 13-year Air Force career, I went into education, which inspired me to lead the fight to return our schools to in-person learning as the Matoaca District School Board member, and later as Chairman. I will continue to advocate for Chesterfield students and parents in Richmond, because every Chesterfield family deserves a quality education."

"Ryan Harter is a champion for parent's and student's rights in Virginia, and he has my full endorsement," Ramirez said. "As a daughter of an Air Force mom and an Air Force dad, I admire the military service of Ryan and his wife, Megan, who both served proudly in the U.S. Air Force. Ryan continued his selfless service as a tireless advocate for our children, first as an educator, and then as a member and Chairman of Chesterfield's School Board. As a mother in Chesterfield, Ryan has always responded swiftly to parent's concerns during his time on our School Board. Ryan is a strong supporter of our Constitutional rights, our service members and law enforcement, and ensuring our elections are free and fair. I'm confident in Ryan's ability to bring his positive, conservative vision to Virginia's Capitol and look forward to working with him in Richmond."
